

"... If the Bee disappeared off the face of the Earth, man would only have four years left to live!"

Albert Einstein

Our farm is located between Siena and Florence on the rolling hills which gently run down from the old Romanic St. Stefano Church to the villages of Mercatale in val di Pesa and Montefiridolfi (300m asl).

Our Family arrived here in 1934 when Gianni Alfani, our great grandfather, decided to stop being a sharecropper and bought his own small farm. We have worked this farm since then.

Since we were children, we have always seen the hives in the fields near the house. We still remember how we admired our dearest grandfather when he approached the hives to extract the honey. With his slow movements, he charmed both the bees and his grandchildren, who watched the scene from a distance.

Bee breeding is incredibly enchanting. This is why this tradition has continued from father to son, with its techniques and small secrets.

We farmers also fully understand the fundamental role that bees play in the pollination of plants. They contribute to the beauty and variety of the ecosystem and, what's more, they help us check the health of our fields.

Over the years, we have become skilled honey connoisseurs. We know how to enhance and select it, according to several characteristics that are determined by the flora and the seasons.

As passionate seekers of new tastes and flavours, we would like to introduce you to our product line.
